The figure is a technical map of a rural area, showing a proposed water transport canalization project. The map features a network of roads, fields, and some buildings. A prominent cyan line represents the main alignment of the canalization, running horizontally across the middle of the map. This line is flanked by blue lines, likely indicating the project's boundaries or easements. A purple circle marks a specific point on the alignment, possibly a junction or a key location. A north arrow is located in the upper left corner, and a scale bar is in the upper right corner. The map is detailed with various labels and symbols, including a legend in the bottom right corner. The overall layout is professional and technical, typical of a planning or engineering document.
